

Molino Basin

Coronado N. F.

Beautiful View: Mountains, Arid Landscape, Rock Formations and Creek

Campground is located in a desert grassland area along the banks of the seasonal Molino Creek among cottonwood, Arizona live oak, and mesquite. Rock boulders are scattered among many of the camp sites. Best Sites: Most all of the campsites have beautiful views of the mountains and arid landscape and some of the tent sites have views of the rock formations and seasonal creek. * See notes in the Introduction.

Reviews from Other Campers: 1) We (Camping With A View) visited this campground in late november 2006. The views of Molino Canyon, the Catalina Mountains and arid landscape from the RV camp sites are excellent. Many of the tent sites have views of the creek, rock formations and/or Catalina Mountains and desert landscape. Overall the campground is very picturesque with easy access from Catalina highway. Ther RV sites are close to the highway so that you can hear the muffled sound of traffic of vehicles on their way up to Mount Lemon. Make sure you take a drive up to the top of Mt. Lemon (continuing on Catalina Highway) for spectacular views of mountains, desert landscape, valleys and forests.
