Reviews from Other Campers: 1) The following excerpts are from a campground description found in the "U.S. National Forest Campground Guide" web site (<http://www.forestcamping.com/index.htm>) : "...This attractive, underused campground is configured as a spur leading into a loop. Lodgepole pine is the dominant vegetation with little understory and middlestory providing fair privacy, but good vistas of the surrounding mountains, meadows and a marsh. Phi Kappa Creek runs through the marsh. Some parking aprons are overgrown with weeds and other vegetation. The campground is pack it in, pack it out [whatever you take in, you take out - garbage, etc.]...This is bear country; practice safe food storage techniques...The parking aprons are dirt..."
