Reviews from Other Campers: 1) The following excerpts are from a campground description found in the "U.S. National Forest Campground Guide" web site (<http://www.forestcamping.com/index.htm>) : "...The campground is composed of three loops - A, B and C and located on the eastern end of Earthquake Lake. Overall, the campground is composed of pines and Aspen tree groves along with large fields of wildflowers. There are several Lilly pod covered ponds in Loop A. Loop B is located along hilltop and has more Aspen then pine. Loop C is closest to Earthquake Lake, but none of the sites have a view of the lake. The Campground is very picturesque and appears well suited for wildlife watching. Take a walk along the lake beside Loop C. The views of the mountains and grassy fields are spectacular. According to campers, Bald Eagles can be spotted. Osprey and their nests are visible. A must visit is the Forest Service's Earthquake Lake Visitor Center on the other end of the lake. It tells the story of the earthquake of 1959 that formed Earthquake Lake...Parking aprons are grass and gravel..."
