

Hope Valley Toiyabe N. F.

Beautiful View: Meadow, Mountains and Evergreen Forest

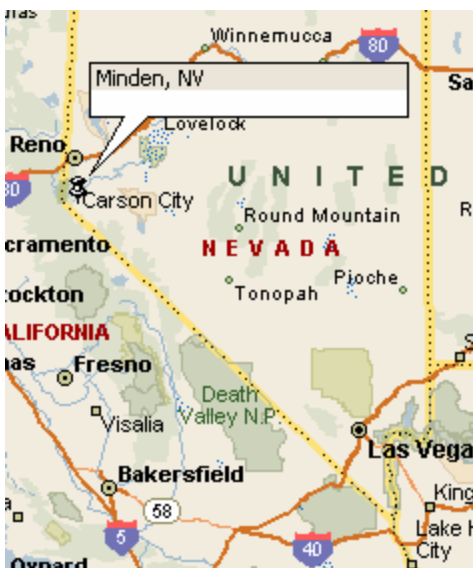

Campground is located in a beautiful mountain valley in the shade of Lodgepole pines. Best Sites: Per ranger district personnel, about half the sites are in a meadow and half are in a forested area - most all of the sites have views of the mountains. ** See notes in the Introduction.

Reviews from Other Campers: 1) The following excerpts are from a campground description found in the "U.S. National Forest Campground Guide" web site (<http://www.forestcamping.com/index.htm>) : "...The campground, physically located in California and across street from West Fork of Carson River, is a collection of small spurs, with fair turn-arounds, at the edge of Hope Valley. Camp sites are tucked in among Lodgepole pines. Ample shade is provided by the Lodgepoles with patches of grass providing some of the ground cover. A few sites have a view of Hope Valley's huge meadow while others have partial views of surrounding mountain peaks. Nighthawks hunt the campground for large insects almost every night. A section of Immigrant Trail runs through campground - look for it next to site 11. Firewood is available for a fee...This is bear country; practice safe food storage techniques...The parking aprons are dirt. Interior road is tight with rocks and close-growing trees; recommend walking campground before committing RV..."
