Reviews from Other Campers: 1) The following excerpts are from a campground description found in the "U.S. National Forest Campground Guide" web site (<http://www.forestcamping.com/index.htm>) : "...The campground is located in a riparian area between Shell Creek and a sage brush hillside. The sites, each with a lantern pole, are adjacent to the creek and have delightful views with fir, Aspen and a few Cottonwood trees. The understory is grass providing minimal privacy between sites for RVs. Tenters have more privacy. The fast moving Sheel Creek can be heard throughout the campground. Nearby is the Shell Falls Interpretive Site, which is a nice day trip to learn about the area's geology...The parking aprons are dirt and they are all about the same size. The campground will accommodate any size RV..."
